Taxation

The description below does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all Maltese tax considerations that could be relevant for the investors of the Scheme. This summary is intended to provide general information only. Each prospective investor should consult a professional tax adviser with respect to the tax consequences on the income or gains derived from the Scheme. This summary is based on Maltese tax legislation and published case law in force as at the date of this supplement. It does not take into account any developments or amendments thereof after that date, whether or not such developments or amendments have retroactive effect.

General principles on jurisdiction to tax

Subject to the provisions of applicable double taxation agreements, Malta imposes tax on all income and chargeable capital gains arising in Malta irrespective of the residence or domicile of the recipient of such income or gains, and on all income and capital gains not arising in Malta derived by persons who are both ordinarily resident and domiciled in Malta irrespective of where such income or gains are received. Persons who are resident but not domiciled in Malta or vice versa, are only taxable in Malta on income arising outside Malta to the extent that such income is received in or remitted to Malta. Persons resident but not domiciled in Malta are not taxable on any capital gains arising outside Malta even if such gains are remitted to Malta.

Dividends derived from the Scheme

Investors who are ordinarily resident and domiciled in Malta (or if resident but not domiciled in Malta, to the extent that such dividends are received in Malta) receiving a dividend from the Scheme are subject to tax in Malta on the dividend received at their applicable rate of tax. However, the investors may benefit from a 15% withholding tax rate on any distribution of profits made to them by the Scheme if the payment is received by the investors through the services of a Maltese authorised financial intermediary as paying agent and the investors opt to have the income taxed at such reduced withholding tax rate.

Where the payment of the dividend is made through a Maltese authorised financial intermediary and withholding tax has been deducted from the dividends paid to the investor, the tax is final and the recipient need not declare the investment income in their Maltese income tax return. The tax withheld will not be available for credit against that person's tax liability or for a refund, as the case may be.

Where an investor benefits from the 15 per cent rate and the recipient suffers foreign tax (whether directly or by way of withholding) no relief for double taxation would be available. Furthermore, the 15% final withholding tax will be determined on the gross income (i.e. prior to deducting the foreign tax).

Where income is received other than through the services of a Maltese authorised financial intermediary or if a recipient opts to receive the dividend income without deduction of withholding tax such investor will be obliged to declare the dividend income in their income tax return and will be subject to tax on such dividends at the standard rates of tax applicable to that person at the time the dividend income is received by the holder of the units.

Increase in value of units in the Scheme

Any increase in the value of the units held by investors in a sub-fund of the Scheme should be considered to be an unrealised gain made by the investor and is not subject to any tax in Malta until such time as the investors transfer (including through a redemption, liquidation or cancellation) their units in the Scheme. Upon the transfer of the units, any increase in the value of the units will be realised and any capital gains made by the investor would be subject to tax as outlined below.

Capital gains on the transfer of units in the Scheme

Capital gains derived from the transfer of units (including redemption, liquidation, or cancellation) in the Scheme by a person who is ordinarily resident and domiciled in Malta is subject to tax in Malta at the individual's applicable rates of tax. However, the investor may opt to have the gains taxed at a favourable withholding tax rate of 15% if the disposal of the units is made through the services of a Maltese authorised financial intermediary. In such case the investor will not be obliged to declare the capital gains in their income tax return. The tax withheld is final and will not be available for credit against that person's tax liability or for a refund, as the case may be. Where an investor benefits from the 15% rate and the recipient suffers foreign tax (whether directly or by way of withholding) no relief for double taxation would be available. Furthermore, the 15% final withholding tax will be determined on the gross income (i.e. prior to deducting the foreign tax).

Capital gains derived from the alienation of the units held in the Scheme by persons who though resident are not domiciled in Malta (or vice versa) should not be subject to tax in Malta even if such gains are remitted to Malta.

The above does not apply where the investor is investing during the course of a trading activity in which case specific rules may apply.

Stamp Duty

No Maltese stamp duty should be payable on the transfer of units held in the Scheme if the transfer is made through the services of a person holding an investment services license in terms of the Investment Services Act if the Scheme does not own any immovable property in Malta (directly or indirectly) nor does it have more than fifty per cent of its business interest in Malta. It is the intention of the Scheme not to own any immovable property in Malta.

Exchange Control

There are currently no restrictions on external capital transactions however shareholders must be fully aware and responsible to comply with any controls and restrictions and/or submission of any documentation which may be imposed in future.

Investors are advised to seek professional advice regarding their personal tax status and any other possible tax consequences.

Sustainability Impacts Disclosure: Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector ('SFDR').

Canaccord International Fund Managers Limited ('CIFML') has appointed Canaccord Genuity Wealth (International) Limited - Jersey branch ('CGWIL') as Investment Manager to the Funds.

CGWIL does not consider the adverse impacts of its investment decisions on Sustainability Factors, in accordance with the regime outlined in Article 7.2 of the SFDR as accompanied by regulatory technical standards (the 'PAI Regime'). (Sustainability Factors mean environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.)

CGWIL and CIFML have carefully evaluated the requirements of SFDR regarding the consideration of adverse impacts and have taken the decision not to voluntarily 'comply' with the PAI Regime at this stage at a firm level or in respect of the Funds. While CGWIL and CIFML are supportive of the policy aims of the PAI Regime, taking account of the size and the nature and scale of their activities, CGWIL and CIFML consider that it would be disproportionate to comply with the PAI Regime. CGWIL and CIFML will keep their decision not to comply with the PAI Regime under regular review and reserve the right to voluntarily comply in the future with the PAI Regime.

Notwithstanding the decision not to comply with the PAI Regime, CGWIL and CIFML do have in place a framework for considering Sustainability Factors and risks, primarily through its approach to integrating environment, social and governance factors.

The value of shares and investments, including the currency in which they are denominated, may go down as well as up and past performance is no guide to the future and the value of shares and the income from them can go down as well as up and cannot be guaranteed. Consequently, investors may, on selling their shares receive an amount greater or less than their original investment.
